

Process Communication Model® - Level 3 practitioner

Practitioner Workshop

EXPERT

WHO FOR, WHAT FOR?

You have reached the advanced level in Process Communication Model. You wish to go forward in developing yourself with PCM tools.

The basic and advanced theory are integrated and you need practice and individualised tools.

OK... WHAT'S THE STORY?

PCM certified trainers and coaches have been telling me for years they need to explore further the model and enrich their offer for their clients or coaches. My colleague Pierre Agnès and I have worked on developing a tool box for PCM experts which offers to make better use of neglected or less talked about components of the model. The main reason is that they are not pure research, rather logical consequences: Character strengths, Existential questions, to name only two...

Another burning topic was: what to do when someone shows a 2nd degree mask behaviour and when offering Psychological needs seems to fail.

I offer you to work these topics and practice with peers.

Taibi Kahler endorsed this seminar in September 2012 and it is reserved to PCM certified experts.

Jerome Lefeuvre – Kahler Communication France – Age 53, married, father of three

Jerome Lefeuvre, studied marketing and psychology at the university in Nice in France and first worked as a language and philosophy teacher for both teenagers and then adults. Then Jerome started an 11 year career in a large insurance group. He was project leader in communication and sales before he moved on to developing interests in HR and leading the training department of the Group. His growing interest in personal development made him extend his career.

Trained in Transactional Analysis and certified in ECI Daniel Goleman’s Emotional Competence Inventory model he was hired in 1997 for missions by Kahler Communication France as a consultant and coach in personal coaching and leadership development. In that field he has been leading seminars and trainings in England, France, Korea, South Africa, Sweden, US.

In 2006 he became Master Trainer in Process Communication Model and wrote his first non fictional book “Discover Process Communication” He has since published four more books including: “PCM Training in 30 days”, and “Display traps of Bad temper and manipulation” with his PCM mate Pierre Agnese and Stephen B. Karpman, world famous for his Triangle.

He also translated into French Taibi Kahler latest book “Process Therapy”

In 2015 he becomes certifying Master trainer in PCM.

Jerome worked and lived in the UK as well as in France. He is fluent in English. Because of his multicultural experience he also trains and coaches global teams does team building and trainings in dealing with emotional intelligence and resilience.

His latest research and work on manipulation has been quite a success in France. In 2014 Steven B. Karpman granted him certifying master trainer status for his research and model.

His continuing passion for psychology shouldn’t cover his secret: he was a playwright and manager of a drama group 15 years in his early life. This may show sometimes when he trains...

What are we going to practice on?

The experiments I will be conducting with you have been a six-year project with Pierre Agnès, the co-author.

At the Vienna conference in 2012, I presented part of it in a workshop titled “Hunger games”.

Uwe Reiner-Kolouch, Co-owner and CEO of Kahler Communication Germany

“The PCM Level 3 Seminar is a perfect way for well experienced PCM users to go deeper into the connections between the different PCM concepts. The exercises are perfectly adjusted to the content and open new perspectives especially for Character Strengths and dealing with Drivers. It would have been better to do all the content on 3 days (not 2) to have more time to practice Myths and Existential Questions.

Very well done Jerome - Thumbs up!!

Here are three example of what we are embarked on doing:

The aligned condominium

Target: PCM trainees or coaches
Objective: revisit the concept of personality in the structure by using the 18 character strengths.

A self-confidence and self-knowledge experiment suggested for trainers or coaches when they do a follow up seminar with people who followed an advanced level PCM.

Recognizing character strengths.

A path towards Psychological needs?

Target: PCM trainees or coaches

Objective: Practice "feeding needs" by using the 18 character strengths.

A feel good experiment suggested for trainers or coaches when they do a follow up seminar with people who followed an advanced level PCM.

Who is your hero?

Target: Any PCM admirer

Objective: Feel good and having fun moment

Introducing the PCM angle on modern superheroes such as Hulk, Batman , Hancock ... leading a feel good moment reflecting on positive heroes of participant of the workshop.

What’s going wrong with my hero?

The failure pattern script: Another not so good reason to complain, blame or attack !

Target: PCM trainees or coaches

Objective: Practice intervention on display of second degree distress behavior connected to failure script. Experiment suggested for trainers or coaches when they do a follow up seminar with people who did the advanced seminar before.
